

Figure 11: Average elevation in pressure for all cases after 2.4 hours. (The case numbers refer to the different petrophysical realizations; in addition, each realization can have three different degrees of faulting. See Table 3.)